IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE THIRD Judicial District, of the State of California, in and for the County of Alameda. Daniel Swett, plaintiff, vs. Mary H. Ryan, defendant. Action brought in the District Court of the Third Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the County of Alameda, and the complaint filed in said County of Alameda in the office of the Clerk of said District Court. The people of the State of California send greeting to Mary H. Ryan, defendant. You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named plaintiff in the District Court of the Third Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the County of Alameda, and to answer the complaint filed therein, within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons, if served within this county; or, if served out of this county but in this district, within twenty days; otherwise within forty days, or judgment by default will be taken against you, according to the prayer of said complaint.

The said action is brought to quiet the title to that certain lot, piece, or parcel of land situated in the City of Oakland, County of Alameda, State of California, and bounded and described as follows, to-wit: Oakland city, in Peralta homestead, lot six (6), in block seven hundred and eighty-five (785), plot "O," and for a decree of said Court declaring and adjudging that you have no estate, claim or interest whatever in or to the said land and premises; and that the title of plaintiff is good and valid, and for costs of suit. All of which more fully appears by reference to the complaint filed in this action to which you are hereby referred as part hereof.

And you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint as above required, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the said complaint.

Given under my hand and seal of the District Court of the Third Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the County of Alameda, this 6th day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven.

Severe Rebuke.

The Kansas Legislature, before its adjournment, passed the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, F. P. Baker, the proprietor of the Commonwealth, has evidently been mad all the winter, at least since the House refused to subsidize him by appropriating four or five thousand dollars for his benefit; and

WHEREAS, He has unhesitatingly slandered and misrepresented the House; and

WHEREAS, The said Baker claims to have lost $500 on this Legislature; therefore

Resolved, That we recommend the said Baker to start another lottery with Bettis and Veale as associate managers, in order that, failing to win the respect of the people and the confidence of the Republican party, he may replenish his purse, making it unnecessary in the future for him to force the rotten Commonwealth on the Legislature at the expense of the State.

Resolved, That from and after this date the Commonwealth ceases to be a State paper.

The rebuke was probably deserved or it would not have been administered by a Republican Legislature to a Republican newspaper. The State paper system should be abolished everywhere. A paper that cannot live without groveling for Federal, State, county or municipal patronage ought to die and leave the field entirely clear to newspapers supported by the people.

Fraudulent Butter.

Since the oleomargarine manufacturers came to grief in this State a few years ago, we have heard of no attempt to palm off artificial butter upon the California public. The oleomargarine men found fresh fields and pastures elsewhere in some of the older States, and have been so successful in working the fraudulent butter into the market, that the dairymen have become alarmed at the inroads thus made upon the trade. The subject was brought up at the annual convention of dairymen held in Chicago recently, when it was stated that one firm in that city were making eighteen hundred firkins per week of the stuff, and that the manufacture of the article was extending into Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky, Indiana and California. The convention sensibly concluded that as oleomargarine was generally sold and bought as pure butter, the best way to combat its further introduction would be to raise the quality of the genuine product of the dairy to such a standard that it would be impossible for anyone to mistake the imitation for real butter.

A Demoralized Party.

The prospects of the Democratic party look exceedingly gloomy just now. There is absolutely nothing in sight for them to hang a hope upon. President Hayes is doing, and proposes to do, all that Tilden promised to do in the way of reform, and the Democratic party is stranded upon a barren beach, and with no clear conception of what it should do to regain vitality. Its condition is pithily summed up by the Sacramento Record-Union as follows: "It cannot fight the President on the Southern question, for the South is so far with him in that regard. It cannot fight him on his appointments, for the whole country is with him there. It cannot fight him on civil service reform, for it is notorious that Tilden contemplated no reform of the kind, and that if he had succeeded the spoils system would have been rigorously applied. It cannot fight him on finance, for there it is itself divided. In truth it is very difficult to see where or how it can organize an effective opposition, and unless this can be done the party cannot have a policy."

ONE of the Peraltas, who is entertaining our Eastern friends by mustang riding, is a more conspicuous person than either of the Mexican Presidents who came to this country to get out of the way of Diaz. These mustangs are often very wild and unruly animals, but they do not give Peralta as much trouble as the Mexican people gave Lerdo and Iglesias. These latter gentlemen might learn some valuable points by seeing Peralta ride.

INTERNAL jealousies are so strong in Egypt that several men are appointed to do the work of one, in order that each nationality may be represented. An Englishman and a Frenchman attend to the taxation, two Englishmen and one Frenchman control the railroad service; an Englishman, an Italian, an Austrian, and a Frenchman regulate the public debt; while representatives of twelve nationalities occupy seats on the judicial bench.

THE Russian Synod has published a Russian version of the Bible, the result of twenty years' labor. The version is sold at $2 25 per copy; but copies are being distributed by the British and Foreign Bible, Society gratuitously.

NEARLY half of the speculative business in Wall street is done on "puts" and "calls." The New York Legislature has a bill before it to stop the dealing in these "privileges."

MANY of the cablegrams on the European war question might as well have been written at this end of the cable, for all the news there is in them.

A Correction.

In a local item headed "Battery Case," published in THE TRIBUNE of yesterday, the name of John Henry Mohrmann, was unintentionally substituted for that of Wm. Lueders. The doubtful compliment of being beaten by John Ehrman, and having a jaw fractured, was paid Mr. Mohrmann, which, as will be seen at once, was entirely out of reason. Mr. Mohrmann is a stalwart butcher fully able to take care of his person should it be assailed by any pugilistically inclined person. He made the complaint against Ehrman because Lueders was so bruised as to be unable to appear before a magistrate, and hence the reporter got his name mixed up in the affair. The reporter states that he will be out again in about a week.

NOTES AND EXCERPTS.

James Gordon Bennett is amusing himself in Algiers.

Jay Gould drew $1,280,000 dividends on Union Pacific last year. He votes on 133,729 shares.

The late Oliver Ames was, it is reported, the wealthiest man in New England—his estate being valued at $15,000,000.

The wife of E. D. Winslow, the Boston defaulter, is supporting herself at Whitehall, New York, by sewing. Winslow himself is believed to be in South America.

Miss Edith May, sister of Fred May, of Bennett-duel notoriety, is to be married to Mr. Montant, of New York. Miss May was one of the party that was aboard of the ill-fated yacht Mohawk, last summer, when she capsized in New York harbor, and it is to the bravery of her prospective husband that she owes her life.

The Ashtabula Sentinel, edited at Jefferson, Ohio, by W. C. Howells, was, perhaps, the first newspaper to nominate Gov. Hayes for the Presidency. It did so October 14, 1875, two days after the election which retired Gov. Allen to private life and put an end to his chances of securing the Democratic nomination in 1876.

A multitude of statesmen, each one of whom a few weeks ago felt that he was burdened with the sole responsibility of the Presidential campaign, have recently awakened to a penetrating consciousness that they are neither corner-stones nor pillars in the Administration temple; and yet its architecture doesn't seem infirm or unshapely. There is clearly a mistake about this somewhere.

The Cardinal Archbishop of Paris, in his Lenten Pastoral, states that marriages with nieces and sisters-in-law, formerly almost or quite unknown, have lately increased in melancholy proportion. His anxiety has been aroused by the demand for dispensations for very near degrees of consanguinity or affinity, and he exhorts the faithful to a strict observance of the laws of the Church on marriage.

There is too much irony in the following paragraph from the Washington Star: "As far as heard from, none of the 10,480 Ohio office-seekers who recently left have as yet found the walking bad, though some of them expect to encounter snow-storms on the mountains." That sort of writing should be stopped. Ohio editors are carefully filing away everything of the kind with the intention of republishing it if a President is ever elected from any other State.

Now if the forty-odd millions of people in the United States will but follow the example of Mr. Joseph Lewis, of Hoboken, New Jersey, that is, die and leave the government a little matter of a million wherewith to discharge the national debt, that obligation will soon be canceled. Lewis was English by birth, but nearly all of his eighty-seven years were passed in America. He was a soldier in the war of '12, a fashionable engraver in New York for a generation or two, original, eccentric, relativeless, and rich.

Professor Benjamin Silliman of Yale College occupied the witness stand in the Emma Mine trial in New York recently. Most of his testimony was of a general nature as to the discovery of ores, the laws of mining, and the finding of new veins in apparently worked-out mines. The "Big Bonanza" was cited as an illustration of a mine which appeared to have been worked out, and afterward proved to be of great value. In regard to his visit to the Emma Mine, Professor Silliman said that no part of his compensation for the examination of the mine was contingent upon his making a favorable report. He received an advance of $5,000 to defray expenses incident to his departure. He at first refused to go, as his college and lecture engagements were pressing, but he was urged to make the examination and to name his new terms, and he finally consented.

Matching coin is the favorite diversion of John T. Raymond, according to the Dramatic News, which says he will go out with a couple of hundred dollars in his pocket in the morning and return in the afternoon for more. Last fall, when in San Francisco, Raymond met Maurice Grau on the street, and they went together into the barroom of the Palace Hotel. Raymond proposed matching. They matched two ten-dollar pieces. Grau won. They doubled it. Grau won. From tens and twenties they went up to hundreds, a streak of luck accompanying Grau throughout. From hundred they soon got to thousands. In less than half an hour Rayond had lost $32,000. So the story runs, at least. It was on honor, of course, as neither had that amount of money. Raymond was excited and nervous, and proposed matching the whole $32,000 on one cast. Grau consented, and put down head. Raymond matched him and won.

The widow of President James K. Polk has just been formally called upon in Nashville by the Tennessee Legislature, which adjourned for that purpose. This is a ceremony which each Legislature goes through. Representative J. F. Stokes made, on the part of the Legislature, this speech at Mrs. Polk: "We thank you for granting us this desired pleasure. We cherish with patriotic ardor the virtues and fame of the distinguished man with whom your life is so tenderly linked. The memory of him is a rich heritage to us and those who come after us. But we beg you not to think this simply a visit of formal courtesy. While we honor the memory of that illustrious statesman, we also regard with deepest reverence the companion of his greatness, and desire to know personally a lady of such excellent worth. We cherish you as one in whom womanly worth and rare graces find bright expression, to be honored and admired by all who know you." One of the lady's neighbors responded for her.

Among the books at the forthcoming Caxton Exhibition in Stationers' Hall, London, will be "The Boke of Tulle of Old Age—Emprynted by me simple persone William Caxton into Englysshe as the playsir solace and reverence of men groving in to old age the xij day of August the yere of our Lord M.cccc.lxxxj." Also "The Polycronycon conteyning the Berynges and Dedes of many Tymes in eyght Bokes. Imprinted by William Caxton after having somewhat chaunged the rude and olde Englysshe, that is to wete certayne words which in these Dayes be neither usyd ne understanden. Ended the second Day of Juyll at Westmestre the xxij yere of the Regne of Kynge Edward the fourth, and of the Incarnacion of oure Lord a Thousand four hundred four Score and tweyne." Caxton seems to have entertained conscientious doubts with regard to the spelling of his own Christian name, as may be gathered from the title of "The Chronicles of Englond Empnted by me Wyllyam Caxton thabbey of Westmynstre by london the v day of Juyn the yere of thincarnacion of our lord god m.cccc.lxxx." Some of Wynkyn de Worde's works may also be forthcoming; such as "The Descripcyon of Englonde Walys Scotland and Irlond speaking of the Noblesse and Worthynesse of the same Fynysshed and emprynted in Flete Strete in the syne of the Sonne by me Wynkyn de Worde the yere of our lord a M.cccc and ij mensis Mayiis."

THE RIFLE.

What Our Sharpshooters are Doing—An Invitation from Abroad.

There is every prospect that the highly exciting amusement and recreation of rifle-shooting will come into popular appreciation by the Oakland public. Already the Amateur Club of this city has distinguished itself in the way of excellent marksmanship. Last week the TRIBUNE made mention of a challenge which had been sent from the Oakland Guard to the Amateur Club. The following answer has been returned:

Capt. H. D. Randlett, Oakland Guard, 2d Brigade, N. G. C.: DEAR SIR—At a called meeting of the Board of directors of this Club, the matter contained in your communication of the 9th inst, was discussed, and a resolution adopted accepting the challenge to shoot a friendly match at 200 yards. A committee of three, composed of Messrs. Miller, Webster and Kellogg was appointed by the Chairman to confer with a similar committee from your command. Be so kind as to communicate with me as to time and place for said committees to meet.

Yours, respectfully,
SHELDON I. KELLOGG, JR.
Secretary Pro Tem.

OAKLAND, March 24, 1877.

It is expected that the day of the match will be set for the near future. From abroad comes a voice with reference to sending a representative to the International contest. The following letter and answer will explain:

NEW YORK, March 1, 1877.

To the Secretary of the Amateur Oakland Rifle Club.

DEAR SIR:—An invitation has been received by this Club from the Riflemen of Ireland to the Riflemen of America, to shoot a match in Ireland in June next, under similar conditions to those governing the Irish-American matches of 1875-6.

Will your Club send one or more men to represent America in this contest? Each man selected as one of the team will be required to bear his own expenses. It is expected his Club will provide for him to the extent of $500, gold.

Please lay this matter before your Club, and communicate its answer before the 1st of April next, as it is necessary that this Club should know by that time whether a representative team can be got together or not. By order of the Executive Committee.

C. B. MITCHELL,
G. S. SCHERMERHORN, JR.,
E. H. SANFORD,
Committee.

JOSEPH HOLLAND, Secretary.

OAKLAND, CAL., March 23d., 1877.

Joseph Holland, Esq., Secretary Amateur Rifle Club of New York:

DEAR SIR:—Your communication of the first inst., extending an invitation to the Oakland Amateur Rifle Club to send a representative to compete for a place in the International Team of 1877, is at hand. The matter has been laid before the Board of Directors and discussed. We find it impossible to send a representative this year, owing to the youth of our Club, and the heavy expense attached, but hope in a few years to be on such a financial footing as will enable us to send a competitor. Will you be so kind as to send me a copy of your Constitution and By-Laws. Mr. Lawrence Weber is now with us, and we hope to have him teach us something about long range matters at our next 1000 yard match.

I have the honor to remain
Very Respectfully,
SHELDON J. KELLOGG, JR.,
Secretary Pro Tem.

Although the Club does not feel able to send a representative abroad, yet it will still continue its practice. On dit it may be mentioned that Starkweather & Son, of 1153 Broadway, have just presented the Club with a silver cup to be shot for according to the rules of the Club. Many other citizens are beginning to appreciate the value of rifle practice, and the efforts of this Club to perfect young men in the art of handling the rifle.

OAKLAND GUARD AT PRACTICE.

Certain members of the Oakland Guard who are perfecting themselves in target practice—some twenty-five in number—have divided into teams of five men each for the purpose of competition They are armed with Sharp's Military Rifle—50 caliber—six pounds pull of trigger. Yesterday afternoon in practice at 200 yards, at Shell Mound, the following scores were made by the First Team, out of a possible 50 points:

Sergeant Bixby......5 4 3 4 3 3 4 3 4 4—37
Captain Raslett......3 3 3 5 4 3 5 4 3 2—36
Lieutenant Maloon...4 4 3 3 3 4 4 2 4 4—35
Corporal Whittier...2 4 4 3 4 4 3 3 4 3—34
Sergeant Peckham. .3 2 4 3 2 4 4 3 4 3—32

They having made 174 points out of a possible 250 or 70 per cent. There are quite a number of men in the Company who, after a little practice, will, undoubtedly, be able to keep up an average of 80 per cent. It must be borne in mind that no one team contains all the best shots—the Second and Third Teams having both beaten the First in their competition a week ago. The above is the best score yet made by any team in the Company, but they expect to record still better shooting in the near future.

LEGAL NOTES.

The Third District Court will convene again on Monday next

The settlement of the estate of Charlotte Kopsch was continued one week in the Probate Court to-day.

Ferdinand Meyers, administrator of the estate of Maria V. Enos was granted a final discharge by the Probate Court this morning.

A hearing on appeal in the case of a Chinese firm against a Constable at Centerville, was up before the County Court at a special session this forenoon. No order was made.

In the matter of the estate of Mary Daly, the Probate Court this morning ordered the hearing continued to a future time as directed, and that personal property remain undisturbed until further order of Court.

The Probate Court this morning made an order for the sale of real estate belonging to the estate of the late G. O'Hara Taaffe. The inventory and appraisement was filed in this estate this morning before the Court sat.

The terrible occurrence which led to the death of Geo. Wefers of East Oakland, and a few days later to that of his wife Ann Wefers, is still fresh in the minds of people in that portion of this city. They left a family of children, for whom a benefit was tendered by the East Oakland people a short time since. The estate left by the elder Wefers consists of a few lots in Brooklyn, now East Oakland, and the Probate Court this morning made an order assigning the entire estate to the use and support of the minor children. There are five of the little orphans, and they will doubtless need the whole of the property to keep them alive.

The First Presbyterian Church, of Pleasanton, yesterday made application to the Third District Court to mortgage their real estate. The complaint avers that it is to the interest of the corporation to borrow the sum of $1,000 for the term of two years, at the rate of 12 per cent. per annum, and to execute their promissory note therefor, and mortgage real estate as follows: The same being and comprising lots Nos. 8 and 9, of block E, in the Revised Plan of the town of Pleasanton, in Alameda county, as conveyed, laid out and drawn by D. D. Reaves for J. A. Neal. Accordingly they pray leave to borrow said sum of money, or such part thereof as they may be able to procure, and to execute a mortgage therefor. This petition will be heard at 2 P. M., April 2, 1877, in the Third District Court room, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, when and where all persons interested in the matter may appear, and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted.

PINK VS. CATANICH.

A Sealed Verdict Handed In—It Will be Opened Monday Morning.

After ex-Senator Lane closed his argument in the slander case of Pink vs. Catanich yesterday, the Court took a recess until 3 P. M. After recess, Zach Montgomery opened for the defense. He stormed the works of the prosecution in a manner quite irresistible. Mr. DeYoung, a witness for the plaintiff in particular, came in for a full share of the counsels scathing language. Mr. Montgomery was followed by John C. Burch for the prosecution. Judge McKee gave a fair and impartial charge to the jury, and at 4 o'clock they retired. The Court instructed them in case a verdict was found before morning to seal, and place it in the hands of the Deputy Sheriff. Quite unexpectedly, the Deputy Sheriff in charge of the jury, was summoned to the jury-room in less than half an hour after Judge McKee had left the Court room. A sealed verdict was handed to him and the jury was discharged. The verdict will be opened on Monday by Judge McKee and judgment rendered accordingly. It is generally the received impression that the jury rendered a verdict in favor of the defendant.

About Peanuts

The sidewalk on Seventh street, in the near vicinity of Broadway station. may at any time be expected to be entirely devoted to the use of peanut venders who have already laid claim to a great portion thereof. This insufferable nuisance has been growing bold of late, and now the odor of baked peanuts, which may be all very nice for children, is a chronic source of complaint among travelers who pass and re-pass along that sidewalk. It is very clear that the City Marshal has not observed how these peanut-sellers have taken possession of the sidewalk on Seventh street. It is also very clear that something must be done to stop the complaints which are constantly being made about this nuisance.

CHURCH NOTICES.

Church notices sent to the TRIBUNE office fresh every Saturday, will be inserted gratuitously. Hereafter the TRIBUNE will publish no others.

CHARTER DAY.

Ninth Anniversary of the Establishment of the University of California.

Interesting Address by Prof. E. R. Sill and Oration and Essays by the Students.

There was a very large attendance at the University yesterday on the occasion of the celebration of "Charter Day" of the University. The exercises took place in the morning, commencing at 10 o'clock; and the afternoon was spent in dancing, which was continued until a late hour. The base-ball nines of the Junior and Sophomore classes played a match game of ball in the morning. The victory rested with the Sophomores. There was also a foot race between Sherrod Williams, '79, and Malcom Moody, '80. Williams was the victor.

The literary exercises were opened by L. W. Brown, '77, the President of the Day, who delivered a few pleasant introductory remarks.

Prof. E. R. Sill

Then followed with a very interesting address. He said: We meet this morning to celebrate a birthday; just as children assemble round an honored mother on her birthday, to commemorate it with gifts, and songs, and words of affectionate respect, so we to-day round the Alma Mater, the University of California. While it is a day very suitable for the consideration of all high themes of thought, it is peculiarly fitting that on our Charter Day we should look backward to, and consider the debt of gratitude which we owe. For in so new a country as ours we are peculiarly liable to be forgetful of the past, and all the debts of obligation which its good deeds have laid upon us. There are no ruins here, nor mouldering monuments of a hoary antiquity. The hills keep their maiden contours unroughened by castle walls, unfurrowed by heroic tombs. The winds sweep over no battle fields of memorable strife; fresh from the unsullied sea they bring their vigor to

A RACE OF UNTRIED MEN,

Whose immortality is all before them. It would not then be strange if we were in danger of forgetting to look back at all; of neglecting to see to whom we are indebted for our birthright. It would hardly be strange if we should feel as though our opportunities for an enlightened life were only another product of our exuberant soil; as though all this fair heritage into which we came were like the bounteous air and the sea and the treasures of the rocks, only a part of the superb natural fitness of things, to which we simply have a right, without a thought of obligation. How far otherwise is the truth! That we are here to-day, sheltered by a great free government, surrounded by all that makes life refined and reasonable,—that we ourselves are what we are, instead of a throng of wild-eyed savages, ambushed here with flint-head arrows, aimed at bear and deer, or at each other,—all this is no accident, nor any chance bounty of Nature. Every fact of it all is owing, step by step, to the deliberate energies of men who have preceded us; men of large and vigorous souls, whom

IT WOULD BE BASE

To suffer to be forgotten while we reap their hard-sown harvests. It is only difficult for us to select wisely among the names of the past, those to whom honor and gratitude is due. The list begins with the beginnings of time. Not only as individuals, but as members of the University, we have a direct and personal debt to every guiding force in history. Not to speak of the ancient efforts for culture which really are the basis of all modern culture, we owe this great debt, first to the English people of the time of the Revolution. Then for the first time was definitely and forever established the principal that every man counts one; and that every man who wants must have all the liberty and all the right there is. Then, secondly, we are directly indebted to the man who transplanted this spirit of free enlightenment from Old England to New England. It is interesting to see how the best minds of all ages of the world are much alike. We have learned to make better clocks and steam-engines, but, after all, not much greater men. Then, thirdly, we are

INDEBTED TO THE LEGISLATORS

Of those younger States, Southern and Western, who built anew on those same foundations; putting into their new colleges whatever seemed good of the advancing ideas of the present. Then building in her turn on all these, came California; and we can never be too thankful that the farseeing men of our first Constitutional Convention in 1849, took care to provide for an institution of learning; "a University" as they expressed it in most liberal phrase, "for the promotion of literature, arts, and sciences." Then, in 1853, Congress most liberally granted to California seventy-two sections of land for the support of the University. In 1862, Congress again showed its wise generosity in giving to California 150,000 acres of land to provide a fund for the maintenance of "liberal education." Next comes our great indebtedness to the College of California. Just as a plant prepares a germ-cell, which becomes the nucleus of a new plant, displaying all the qualities elaborated in the germ, so the old college prepared through many toilful years the nucleus, vitalized with the most scholarly and liberal principles, from which our University directly took its growth. Next comes our debt of gratitude to the Legislature that passed the Act, approved March 23, 1868, incorporating the University, following it by

A NOBLE APPROPRIATION

Of $200,000 for its use. To the Trustees of the old college, who drew up the Act, are we especially grateful. And then I do not need to speak of those generous benefactors, men like him whose portrait hangs before you [Hon. Edward Tompkins] who have given liberally of their means to make all these noble plans practically efficient for the evident good of the people; nor do I need to speak again of President Durant, whose great heart, kept warm against all discouragements, and trials, by its prophetic vision of the completed end, inspired his indefatigable faith, and whose benignant countenance is like a perpetual benediction among us to-day. But since time would not serve to tell a tithe of those to whom thanks and honor are due, turn for a final moment to the thought—what is it which they have given us? What is the University? The derivation of the word is often, but erroneously, supposed to point to the universality of its teachings. The error is not an unreasonable one, but

THE TRUE ETYMOLOGY,

Too, has a fine significance. The universitas was a term in the old Latin law a thousand years ago, signifying any corporation or institution to which a charter was granted by the government. There is a profound meaning in the idea as it is usually understood; a universe of knowledge. Think of the narrow round of studies which used to be considered the whole circle of the sciences. But it is not less but more.—"More life, and fuller," that we want; more ranges of study opened to us by competent minds. Thanks, a thousand times, to those whose broad-minded beneficence has made our opportunities so wide and full as they are; and welcome, a thousand times welcome, to those coming benefactors, who, will still widen and deepen them, to keep pace with the world-wide progress of man. And now, finally, how can we hope to repay these debts of gratitude to the past? Only by their payment to the future. If those who went before us have served us, we must serve those who are to come after us. From as many centuries of untiring men as you have received countless benefits, to so many coming centuries are you sacredly bound to repay the obligation.

THE WHOLE STRIVING WORLD

Has come and laid its gathered treasures at your feet. At the world's feet must be laid your treasure, your thought, your love, your life. Do you say, "What can such as I accomplish?" But it is for you that the world is waiting; for your enthusiasm, for your fidelity, for your truth. If you feel but the dawning desire to do such service, though it be but some timid aspiration, that feeling is itself a prophecy, and that prophecy will bring its own fulfillment. Yet so little seems to me our honor, so limited our power, that our thoughts cannot but turn back once more to those who have done for the world more even than the world could do for them. Their types are here before us in these portraits on our walls; the great bishop, whose mighty intellect

"Went sounding on, a dim and perilous way,"

Through every depth of profound and pathless thought; whose magnificent dreams seemed to include even us in their prophetic reaches. These are the fitting types of all such, whose deeds to-day we celebrate. And as we look upon them we say: Fortunate are we who have won your immortality! We pass away and are forgotten, but your names are not of those that die, we who are mortal salute you, the immortal: "Morituri Salutamus."

John H. Wheeler

Of the Sophomore Class then read an interesting essay on the life and struggles of the Scotch naturalist, Thomas Edwards. He gave a very graphic and interesting account of the early tendencies and opportunities of Edwards, of the many discouragements and adverse conditions which followed his career as a scientist, and contrasted his efforts and advantages with those of Agassiz. Mr. Wheeler rendered his production in an easy and natural style and did credit to his class.

Edgar C. Sutliffe

Of the Junior Class then followed with an essay on "Applied Knowledge." He contrasted the mere possession of learning with the ability to make it practically useful, or its influence in ennobling the life of the possessor. Learning is the dry details of language, art or science, which may or may not reach on the mind which possesses them and produce a man of culture or not. "Culture is learning translated into thought and action. Learning is the flower which culture is the fruit." He then made application of the argument to methods of college training, and favored the system of class recitation over the lecture method, and the student must be made to feel that he must study constantly and closely, and that he must assimulate his learning, making his learning knowledge, and its knowledge culture, by constant application in methods that do not waste his powers.

Mr. Sutliff's essay was well rendered and well received.

Edward Booth

Of the Senior Class, then followed with an excellent oration on "Labor and Science." He reviewed briefly the situation of the laborer in the past and at present, showed how arduous an existence is passed by the laboring classes in many countries of Europe, and then asked the question—"Is there no way of raising man out of these depths?" The speaker maintained that the time would come when the laborer would be enabled to live comfortably in all countries, and that science would be the main instrument of that work. He compared the condition of the laborer in countries where science reigns, and showed how much better it was in scientific countries. His conclusion was as follows: As the primitive astronomical investigations of antiquity improved the condition of all classes by the encouragement given to commerce, so will the more detailed and more accurate observations to in the future. As the invention of the steam-engine elevated the laborer, and makes more of a man and less of a brute of him in former days, is it not fair to suppose that the same causes in the future will produce equally grand results. And in a measure, underlying all of the others, is chemistry. No one for a moment would contend that study in this direction is useless. All the materials of the earth are chemicals, and the earth itself but one vast laboratory. Discovery after discovery in this as yet comparatively unknown land, adds comforts to the poor in the production of food and clothing. Let the astronomer then search through the arches of the heavens, the geologist turn the leaves of earth's history. The advantages all revert to the laborer. By assisting in the onward march of science, although of but little apparent bearing on the subject, yet do they tend to the comfort of the laborer. Then, far from discouraging the labors of this scientist, far from decrying the advantages of a scientific training, the laborer should rather be thankful that time is afforded to a few to undertake such work. Could he but see how the advantages of science shining through the scientist spread their light and warmth on himself, he would bless the men who, by their untiring labors are stretching out their hands to lift him to a higher plane of being. The ignorant animosity existing in the mind of the laborer toward the scientist would vanish and then would science assume her true and rightful position on the right hand of labor as a friend and help-meet.

CHURCH RE-UNIONS.

The First Methodist Church and First Presbyterian Church Societies.

Last evening at the First Methodist Church, corner of Fourteenth and Clay streets, a very pleasant social was held in the spacious basement of the building. Vocal and instrumental performances, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs Prince, were interspersed with literary exercises, and all was supplemented by a collation, served in the supper room adjoining.

At the First Presbyterian Church, the Sabbath School Chapel was thronged with members of the congregation. Vocal and instrumental music were here, also, rendered with great excellence. Mrs. W. C. Little lent the aid of her exquisite voice to the entertainment. The young folks and the old were both in high spirits at the close of the evening.

The pools commenced with Bodine, $100; Rarus, $35, and ran along at these figures for some time; then the horses drew up even, and sold during a dozen pools at about $200 each; then Rarus shot ahead and held the lead to the finish at about $100 to $60.

Popular Movement in Favor of the Nicholls Government.

Surmises as to Oakey Hall's Fate.

From Louisiana—Popular Movements in Favor of Nicholls.

NEW ORLEANS, March 24th.—The Cotton Exchange preamble and resolutions have been telegraphed to President Hayes.

It is stated that meetings will be held by the Chamber of Commerce and Merchants' Exchange, Stock Exchange and Clearing House Association, in contradiction of the assertion that business men here would be satisfied with Packard for Governor.

Meetings have been called here and throughout the State to endorse and pledge support to the Nicholls' Government.

NEW ORLEANS, March 24th.—The Cotton Exchange held a meeting to-day and adopted resolutions strongly endorsing Nicholls, and denouncing the statement that business men were willing to recognize Packard, and expressing the firm belief that an attempt to foist Packard on the people would lead to civil strife and to resistance which would speedily assume such formidable proportions as would endanger the peace and prosperity of the entire country.

Oakey Hall's Fate.

NEW YORK, March 24th.—The World persists that all the facts point to the inference that Hall was murdered in Brooklyn last Friday night. It gives the name of the lady in the Divorce Court in question as Mrs. Ellen Davis Morgan, wife of Leonard Morgan. The World continues: The engagement with Miss Dyas was for the same evening, but Hall afterwards told Miss Dyas that he was compelled to go to Brooklyn during the early part of the evening, and couldn't meet her till 9 o'clock. That he did go to Brooklyn about 7 o'clock is almost absolutely certain. That he was probably made away with while in the dangerous locality he intended to visit seems now altogether probable. Other journals, including those of Brooklyn, scout the idea.

Heavy Failure.

NEW YORK, March 24th—Walter C. Adams, agent of the Star line of Texas packets, and a commission merchant, 181 Pearl street, has failed. Liabilities, $600,000; assets valued at $300,000. A large part of the indebtedness is held by creditors in Europe. The main cause of the failure was the bad faith of European correspondents, by which a large quantity of merchandise was thrown on Mr. Adams' hands in Belgium and Germany.

Beecher's Return Home.

Henry Ward Beecher returned last evening from his western lecture trip, escorted from New Brunswick on the Pennsylvania Railroad by an enthusiastic party of Plymouth Church friends.

The University Race Declared to be a Dead Heat.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Liverpool Grain Market

LIVERPOOL, March 24th.—A leading grain circular says: The wheat market of the interior show generally rather more firmness, but sellers complain of slow trade and unremunerative prices. Purchasers buy but little more than for immediate use. The coast is about cleared of cargoes of wheat and maize. Out of thirty-five ships at outposts for orders, there now remain only twenty for sale. Spot business within the past two days has been dull throughout, but values are unchanged. Our fresh arrivals since Tuesday, inclusive, are small of wheat and flour, and arrivals of corn are moderate. At this market to-day there was a tolerably good attendance, and a fair business in wheat at the extreme prices of Tuesday. In some instances the turn was in favor of sellers. Flour is steady, but little is doing. Corn is in air demand.

LONDON, March 24th.—9:45 A. M.—It is certain that the race was a dead heat.

THE STOCK BUSINESS.

Lecture Delivered Last Evening by Rev. L. Hamilton.

Pursuant to varied and multitudinous announcements, Rev. L. Hamilton last evening delivered a lecture in the First Congregational Church upon the subject "The Stock Board and its Relations to Society." The lecture was delivered in the cause of charity. The receipts, however, were not as liberal as were hoped for, and the recipient can not be very enthusiastic over the generosity of the Oakland public who lend their aid to the widow and the orphan. A small audience in a large church is one of the things which a lecturer flinches from: but Dr. Hamilton bravely arose at 8 o'clock last evening and after being introduced by Dr. McLean, began his lecture. The reverend gentleman's style of oratory was calm and deliberate, and he brought out his points without exertion. Still

FAINT RIPPLES OF APPLAUSE

Broke over the empty benches at long intervals, and the audience seemed to relish in a quiet way the sharp thursts which the speaker flung into the shaggy bears and bulls of California street. There was nothing sensational about Mr. Hamilton's lecture; but its truths were solid; they stood out firm as adamant, and were unanswerable. He told his audience that he had no great fault to find with the business of stock mining on the Pacific Coast if it was carried on in the proper channel; he held that the stock board of California street had done one grand thing for the mines—it had fed the pick and shovel to enable their wielders to develope the great mineral resources of the country. The stock board was

THE GREAT RESERVOIR

Which fed the innumerable streams of mining life, and into which an overconfident public poured its coin. There were three distinct classes of men engaged in the stock business; the first were of good intentions, who entered the business to make a legitimate living; they would treat a customer as any other good business man; they would protect him equally with themselves. The second class was composed of not intentional swindlers; they would do business for a man whether it was on the road to ruin or not; business was business with them; they would take an order for a man, and at the same time call him an idiot for buying wildcat stock. But the third class was what the speaker bore down on the hardest. The class which was composed of scheming,

DELIBERATE SWINDLERS;

Men who should be in the penitentiary but oftener got into Congress; the men who formed "rings" to encircle the dear public's coin; the men who manufactured "pools" wherein to sink the dear public's ready cash; the men who "salted" claims to entice the unwary speculator; the men who declare false dividends (on paper) to enable them to "unload" their overstocked pockets; these were deliberate swindlers and for them the lecturer had no comfort to offer. He gave an illustration of the modus operandi whereby a mine was declared to be "good" or "bad;" another how to send stocks "booming" or "flat." He read from the statistics of stock transactions, for the last fifteen years to show how many mines paid dividends, how many paid assessments, and how many did neither. He figured up the

TOTAL AMOUNT OF DIVIDENDS

Paid by the mines on the Comstock Lode in Nevada, and the amount of assessments paid into those mines by stockholders during the years they have been worked, and found that the assessments amounted to $40,000,000 more than the dividends. "And," the lecturer asked, "do you suppose that of this vast sum all was expended in developing the mines? Why, $40,000,000 would split Mt. Davidson from peak to base; lay one-half over into the adjacent valleys and uncover all the mineral deposits that there possibly exist." The lecturer was very sorry to see what a hold this stock gambling had upon all classes of society; merchants, clerks, mechanics, farmers, kitchen-maids

AND EVEN CLERGYMEN,

Were participants in the excitement and turmoil of California street; the effect was demoralizing; the speaker had heard whispered from lawyers, whose names would, if mentioned, be sufficient guarantee of the fact, that beautiful, fashionable women in San Francisco committed nameless crimes for the sake of obtaining "points" from the leading spirits of some "ring," or "pool" Such thoughts were terrible; the pillars of the church were often shaken by this stock-gambling; preachers dared not censure it; it must be changed; the stock board, if used properly, would undoubtedly be a great blessing and advantage to the mining interests of the Pacific Coast. Thanking the audience for their attention Mr. Hamilton stepped down. The above is but a very brief synopsis of his remarks.

SAN FRANCISCO BREVITIES.

At the series of eight Promenade Concerts to be given at the Mechanics' Pavilion the ladies of the San Francisco Female Hospital will have charge of the ice cream and refreshment tables.

The Methodist churches of the city have about concluded their arrangements for the approaching revival meetings in the Pavilion under the direction of Mr. Taylor. Noonday prayer meetings will be held in the Howard-street Methodist Church.

Callahan, Lynch & Co. confidently expect to have their affairs settled up in so satisfactory a manner that not only will all their creditors be paid in full, but there will be a margin left for themselves. The firm is doing business in the Stock-Exchange as usual.

A WOMAN'S HAND

Only a little, soft, white thing
Made for wearing the costly ring,
Made for flirting the dainty fan
As only the belle of the season can;
Made for the stolen pressure or kiss
(Long Branch fashion), rising to bliss,
By merely the touch of fingers white,
Her escort down on the beach that night;
Made for a "prize" for the highest bid
(And under the rose a thorn lies hid)–
A thing which the honest summer sun
Has taught his ardent beams to shun,
Lest freckle or tan its beauty spoil
And make it too near a hand of toil,]
Instead of only a dainty thing
Meant for ease and the diamond ring

Only a sunburned, useful thing
To which the hearts of the needy cling,
To which they turn who have learned the worth
Of a woman's hand on this weary earth;
Made for healing, for smoothing o'er
The hearts of those who are faint and sore;
Made for honest work each day,
For driving the shadows of life away,
For holding the "cup of water" to all
Who, faint and thirsty, for succor call,
Made for leading the timid on,
For blessing all it may rest upon,
Made to be won by a loyal heart,
Who in its labor will bear a part;
Made to be clasped by a loyal hand,

RETRIBUTION.

John D. Lee Shot Dead at Mountain Meadows, the Scene of the Terrible Massacre.

Bitterly Denouncing Brigham Young, He Died, as He Had Lived, a Religious Fanatic.

His Dying Confession—Scenes at the Execution.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE TRIBUNE.]

CEDAR CITY (Utah), March 23d.—John D. Lee was shot at Mountain Meadows at 11 o'clock to-day. The execution took place near Emigrant's Monument. A squad of United States soldiers were stationed in the open field, and Lee was placed before them. The troops numbered six men, and at Lee's request he was placed near them.

HE MADE A SHORT SPEECH,

In which he expressed his confidence in the Mormon religion, as revealed to Joseph Smith. He denounced Brigham Young in severe terms; said he had never intentionally done a wrong, and was prepared to die. His language was evasive and contradictory of what he had previously said and written. He died as he had lived, a religious fanatic. The Marshal, with the soldiers and Lee, District-Attorney Howard and Rev. Mr. Stokes, arrived at Mountain Meadows about 8 o'clock Thursday evening. After eating, and stationing guards, they all retired around a camp-fire except Lee and Rev. Mr. Stokes. They slept together in a wagon. Lee slept all night, and took a light meal this morning. He gave directions, as to disposing of his property, to District-Attorney Howard, dividing it about equally between three of his wives and their children.

HE REQUESTED THE MARSHAL TO DELIVER HIS BODY TO HIS WIFE RACHEL.

He also requested that he might be shot at short range, and that they would aim at his heart. He knelt down on his coffin, and was requested to remain there while a photographer, present, took a picture. Lee called the artist to him, and requested that each of his wives should be forwarded a copy.

HE MADE A FULL WRITTEN CONFESSION,

Whi he handed to District Attorney Howard on the field. He seemed to be collected, and showed no fear. After his remarks, Rev. Mr Stokes offered prayer, Lee kneeling on his coffin. The bandage was then placed on his eyes. He sat on his coffin, took off his coat and hat, handed them to the officer, held up his hands and said he was ready. The Marshal gave the word, and

THREE SHOTS WENT THROUGH HIS HEART.

He fell back upon his coffin and died without a struggle. Quite a number of spectators were present. The best of order prevailed. The body was immediately placed in the coffin and sent to his wife Rachael. During the last few days Lee had some hopes of Executive interference, in response to a petition recently presented by his children.

LATER REPORT.

[From Our Special Correspondent.]

CEDAR CITY, March 23d —Evening. –The execution of Lee occurred within about 200 yards of the spot where twenty years ago he decoyed the emigrants out, and about the same distance from the monument. About 100 persons witnessed the execution. United States Marshal Nelson and posse arrived at the Meadows about 8 o'clock last night from Beaver with three Government wagons containing a squad of twenty-two soldiers from Camp Cameron, and commanded by Lieutenant Patterson. On the first night out a march of seventy miles was made, from Beaver to Leech's, and came into camp about three o'clock in the afternoon. Lee ate a hearty breakfast, smoked, and rolled himself in his blankets under a cedar tree and slept soundly until about one o'clock.

HIS MANNER WAS COOL AND COLLECTED,

And he either failed to realize or was indifferent to the terrible fate so soon awaiting him. On the trip for the first time he confessed to the slaying of five emigrants. He spoke with great bitterness against Brigham Young, whom he accused of leading the Mormons to destruction. This morning about nine o'clock Lee was taken from the camp in one of the Government wagons, headed by Lieutenant Patterson and his men, and the marching to the scene of execution was commenced. He slept well all last night, and his appetite was in no way diminished. He talked composedly, and acted and talked with remarkable indifference. Arrived at the spot, he went to a convenient place and explained the situation of the emigrants when the massacre occurred.

THE PICTURE PRESENTED THIS MORNING WAS WEIRD AND STRANGE BEYOND DESCRIPTION.

The wagons, troops, etc., as seen from an overlooking promitory going through the Meadows was a scene not dissimilar to one twenty years ago on the same spot. The wagons were placed together, and behind these the six men selected to do the execution were posted, armed with needle guns. Lee, in company with the Rev. Mr. George Stokes, of Minnesota, Marshal Nelson, and Mr. Howard advanced. His step faltered a little as he approached the coffin. He took off his overcoat, and as coolly seated himself on the head of his coffin as though he was taking a seat by a comfortable fire. The prisoner was about twenty-five feet from the wagons, and sat facing them. The Marshal, in a clear steady voice read the death warrant, to which the condemned man paid little attention.

HE ASKED TO MAKE A STATEMENT.

He spoke of the solemnity of the occasion, his willingness to die, his innocense, of his being the best friend the United States had, and of Brigham Young, whom he accused of going back on one who had served him. But he stood firm in the faith. He spoke of his family, and was from the first affected to tears. All kneeling, and the prisoner by his coffin the Rev. Mr Stokes offered a prayer. Lee again seated himself and told the men at the wagons not to mangle his legs, but to aim well for the heart. He said he was not at all excited, and that he could give the word to "fire" himself. The Marshal bandaged his eyes, but he would not permit his hands to be tied, and clasped them over his head. About the last thing, he told the boys to aim well, and murmured something against Brigham Young. The Marshal then gave the command—"Make ready, take aim, fire!" and

JOHN D. LEE FELL QUIETLY BACK ON HIS OWN COFFIN,

His feet resting on the ground, and died without a struggle. Five balls went through the region of his heart. He displayed the most extraordinary courage, and met his fate either in the belief that he was a martyr or a hero. In any event, he died with a fortitude and resignation that made death easy

HIS CRIME WAS A TERRIBLE ONE,

And after twenty years of waiting, the terrible punishment of the law overtook him and was consummated on the very spot where he plotted and executed the destruction of one hundred and thirty men, women and children. No member of his family was present. He has fifty children alive. He requested that his body be sent to Pangwicht, to wife Rachel. His remains have just reached Cedar. They will be sent to Pangwitch to-morrow.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Minister Washburne has been recalled at his own request.

Tweed and his confreres are now said to be willing to settle.

Chamberlain and Wade Hampton are both expected to visit Washington, in reference to their claims to the South Carolina Government.

The President has addressed a letter to Vice-President Wheeler requesting him to consult with Mr. Hutchinson, attorney-at-law of new Orleans, who is well-known to the President, and believed to be familiar with the true condition of affairs in that State.

Great ill-feeling exists in court circles concerning the vote fixing Lepsic at the seat of the Supreme Court of Germany. Bismarck is sharply denounced for his mismanagement, and it is asserted that a more decided interferance on his part might have reversed the decision.

REAL ESTATE.

HAVING DISPOSED

Of my entire business of Real Estate Agency, conveyancing, searching of Records, etc, together with everything appertaining thereto to Mr Will H. Burrall, a resident of Oakland, who also succeeds me as Notary Public. I would hereby request all who have patronized me in said business, to extend the same liberal patronage to my said successor Mr. Burrall, being assured of his attending to everything entrusted to his care, in the best and most satisfactory manner, as his long experience, strict attention to business matters, and reliability will fully guarantee. His office being my old and well known place of business, northwest corner of Broadway and Fifth streets, Oakland G E SMITH

Burrall's BONANZA REAL ESTATE OFFICE.

Conveyancing. Notary Public. Commissioner of Deeds, etc.

Having purchased the business heretofore conducted by G Estabrook Smith, I would respectfully assure all his former patrons, as well as my own friends and the public generally, that any business in my line that may be intrusted to my care, will have prompt and careful attention.

Residing formerly a period of 15 years on the famous Comstock Lode, State of Nevada, (doing the leading business in my line in Virginia City), and then as now having an almost universal acquaintance with the 'Bonanza" People and all through said State of Nevada (from whence, as is well known, have hitherto, and will hereafter come many of the principal buyers of property in Oakland and vicinity), and being very generally acquainted in Oakland, San Francisco and other portions of California, residing for the last three years in Oakland and vicinity of the Bay, I believe I can make it the interest of those having property to sell or lease to place the same in my hands, and also for those desiring to buy or rent to give me their orders

Business places bought and sold, Houses, Stores, Offices, Rooms, etc, rented and rents collected, and other collections made, property of absentees or non residents cared for, loans negotiated, etc

An experience of nearly ten years will enable me, I trust, to satisfactorily attend to the duties of Notary Public and Commissioner of Deeds, and drawing or copying any papers, Deeds, Leases, Mortgages, Powers of Attorney, Homesteads, and anything in the line of Conveyancing. Searching of Records also attended to. My motto being "PROMPTNESS, ACCURACY AND RELIABILITY," your orders are respectfully solicited, not desiring, however, to conflict with anyone's business in the line

Protect Your Buildings!

Which may be done with one-fourth the usual expense by using our

PATENT SLATE PAINT!

Fifteen Years Establised.

Mixed ready for use

Fire-Proof, Water-Proof, Durable, Economical and Ornamental.

A roof may be covered with a very cheap shingle, and by application of this slate be made to last from twenty to twenty five years. Old roofs can be patched and coated, looking much better and lasting longer than new shingles without the slate, for

One-third the cost of Re-shingling.

The expense of slating new shingles is only about the cost of simply laying them. The paint is FIRE-PROOF against sparks or flying embers, as may be tested by any one.

IT STOPS EVERY LEAK.

And for tin or iron has no equal, as it expands by heat, contracts by cold, and never cracks nor scales. Roofs covered with Tar Sheathing Felt can be made water-tight at a small expense, and preserved for many years. This Slate Paint is EXTREMELY CHEAP.

Two gallons will cover a hundred square feet of shingle roof, while on tin, iron, felt matched boards, or any smooth surface, it will go much further, and although the paint has a heavy body it is easily applied with a brush.

No Tar is used in this Composition.

Therefore it neither cracks in winter nor runs in summer. On decayed shingles it fills up the holes and pores, and gives a new, substantial roof that will last for years. Curled or warped shingles it brings to their places, and keeps them there. It fills up all hole in felt roofs, stops the leaks—and although a slow dryer, rain does not affect it a few hours after applying. As nearly all paints that are black contain Tar, be sure you obtain our genuine article which, for shingle roofs, is

CHOCOLATE COLOR.

When first applied, changing in about a month to a uniform slate color, and is, to all intents and purposes, Slate. On

TIN ROOFS,

Our red color is usually preferred, as one coat is equal to five of any ordinary paint. For

BRICK WALLS

Our Bright Red is the only reliable Slate Paint ever introduced that will effectually prevent dampness from penetrating and discoloring the plaster.

These paints are also largely used on outhouses and fences, or as a priming coat on fine buildings.

Our only colors are Chocolate, Red, Bright Red and Orange
